

Notice Regarding the Transfer of Shares in Zeeklite

TOKYO, Japan – May 30, 2025 – ORIX Corporation ("ORIX") announced today that all shares of Zeeklite Co., Ltd. ("Zeeklite") held by ORIX Environmental Resources Management Corporation have been transferred to Veolia Japan GK ("Veolia Japan"), the Japanese subsidiary of the Veolia Group.

1. Purpose of the Transfer

In Yonezawa, Yamagata, Zeeklite is engaged in an environmental services business involving the collection, transportation, and final disposal of waste, and a mining business involving the extraction and sale of zeolite. Since 1998, Zeeklite has operated one of the largest managed final disposal site in the private sector in Japan and holds permits to process not only industrial waste but also general waste.

Veolia Group is a global company based in France and provides comprehensive environmental services. In Japan, Veolia develops businesses in three fields: water, waste treatment, and energy. In the field of waste treatment, the Group has extensive expertise, including the operation of waste treatment facilities at 865 sites globally.

The decision to transfer the shares was made based on the belief that combining Zeeklite's operations with the Veolia Group's extensive track record and expertise will enable further growth for Zeeklite and enhance the long-term value of its business.

As one of its focus areas, ORIX Group has set "global warming and limited resources" as a key theme and is working toward realizing a circular economy as part of a solution to these issues. ORIX Group will continue to optimize its portfolio to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society through businesses that support resource recovery and the stable supply of high-quality recycled materials.
